

Over-plumped lips

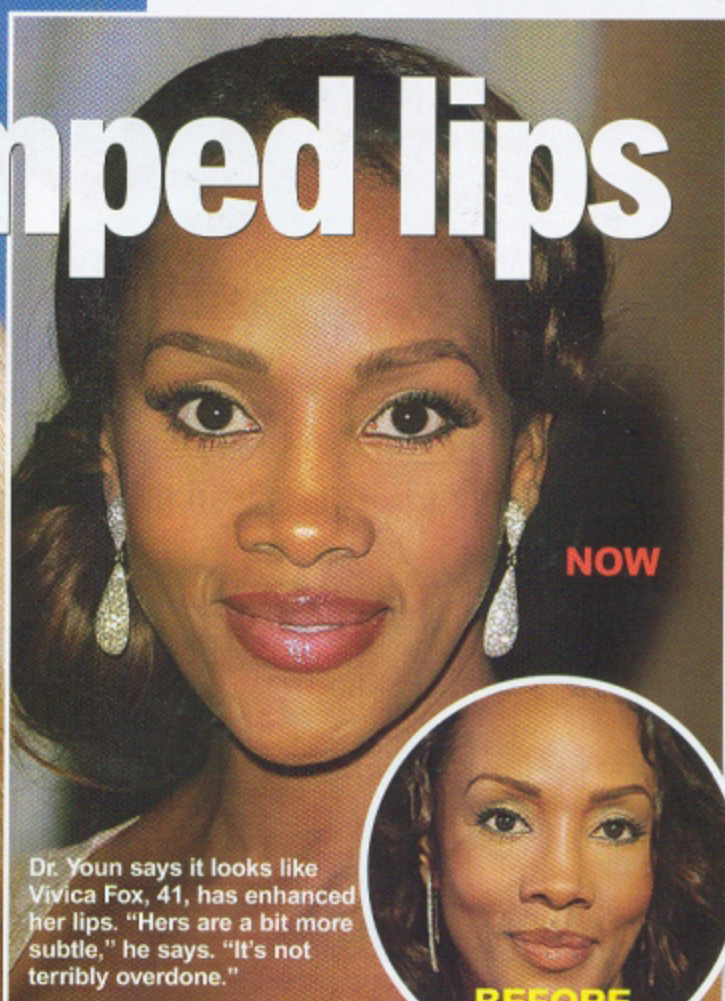

Just 10 days after officially announcing her breakup with Nick Lachey, Jessica Simpson hit the red carpet at the VH1 Big in '05 event with an unnatural-looking pucker, according to Dr. Youn, who hasn't treated any of these stars.

These stars are so much more beautiful with natural-looking pouts!

Since Jessica Simpson's split from Nick Lachey in November, her lips have looked fuller and bee-stung, and the 25-year-old is just one of many celebs who appear to be getting injections of collagen, Restylane or fat to pump up their pouts.

"There is a growing trend in Hollywood for lip plumping," says Dr. Anthony Youn, a plastic surgeon featured on E!'s Dr. 90210. Actresses think they'll look younger and prettier with bigger lips, but many just look odd. Jessica should be content with her natural beauty. "Her eyes are her best assets," Dr. Youn says, "and they are overshadowed by her excessively large lips."

Dr. Youn says it looks like Vivica Fox, 41, has enhanced her lips. "Hers are a bit more subtle," he says. "It's not terribly overdone."

Dr. Youn says it definitely looks as if Lara Flynn Boyle, 35, added some youthful fullness to her lips after joining Las Vegas' cast of young beauties.
