

I WANT HER

Even stars sometimes wish they could look like someone else. Experts weigh in on how to make it happen

Ashlee is after Jess' chest!

She may sing "I Am Me," but it looks like Ashlee Simpson, 21, is trying to become a dead ringer for her older sister, Jessica, 25. First, she allegedly had her nose nipped last month (and hasn't said otherwise), and now, although Ashlee's rep denies it, the younger Simpson sis wants to enlarge her B-cup chest, an insider says. "Ash sees this as her big chance to be seen as the hotter sister," a pal tells Life & Style. (Ashlee's boyfriend, musician Brexton Ojita, is apparently less than ecstatic about the idea. "She was hot before, and now she's just trying to imitate her sister," he told the insider.)

If Ashlee does decide to have some work done, Dr. Anthony Youn, a Michigan-based plastic surgeon and founder of CelebritySurgeryBlog.com, thinks breast implants (around $8,000) would give Ash a Jess-like D-cup that could work well. Says Dr. Youn, "She's thin, so the implants wouldn't make her look heavy. They'd improve her appearance."
