

HOLLYWOOD BOOB JOBS

Whose are REAL & whose are FAKE?

In Hollywood, having plastic surgery – especially breast enhancement – is almost as commonplace as going to the dentist.

But that doesn't stop celebrity watchers from wondering: "Did she – or didn't she?" So The ENQUIRER asked Detroit-area plastic surgeon Dr. Tony Youn to take a look at some of Hollywood's sexiest stars – and give us his expert opinion on who has had a boob job and who is naturally endowed.

by ROBIN MIZRAHI

HEATHER LOCKLEAR ▲ Little size 2, the former "Spin City" beauty has always been usually full-breasted. But when asked whether she's ever had plastic surgery, the 45-year-old actress responded: "It's all me. What you see is what you get."

DR. YOUN: "This is a tough call. Heather may have had small implants to give her a lift – or she may simply wear push-up bras to make her breasts look fuller. Due to their extremely natural appearance, I'd say her breasts are natural. She's one of a handful of women blessed with a slim body and ample breast size."

JESSICA SIMPSON The voluptuous beauty, 26, is as well known for her figure as she is for her singing and acting – and there has been endless speculation about whether her most pronounced assets are real or enhanced.

DR. YOUN: "No one really knows for sure if Jessica has had implants, and she has often denied it. But in my opinion the size of her breasts, along with their roundness at the top and sides, signify augmentation."

JENNIFER ANISTON ▲ When the 38-year-old star admitted she'd undergone surgery to repair a deviated septum earlier this year, she set insiders buzzing about whether she'd enhanced her breasts at the same time. But the former "Friends" beauty is dressed by Hollywood's top stylists, who are geniuses at fitting their clients with bras that give breasts a flattering boost.

DR. YOUN: "I doubt very much that Jennifer has had a breast augmentation. From what I can see, she's walking around with a very beautiful set of natural breasts."

KELLIE PICKLER ▲

The "American Idol" alum has spoken publicly about idolizing country legend Dolly Parton, who's famous for her enormous enhanced breasts. "I'd like to follow in her footsteps," 20-year-old Kellie has said. And when the American public got its first glimpse of Kellie since she was booted off the show, her chest was strikingly larger.

DR. YOUN: "Kellie's transformation from small-town girl to big-breasted music star is shocking. Her breasts appear to have been augmented from a B to a D. She looks top-heavy. My guess is a definite 'yes.'"

▲ KATHERINE HEIGL

A former model, the "Grey's Anatomy" star, 28, knows how to accentuate her flawless figure. Hollywood insiders would love to know if her breasts are enhanced, but Katherine has neither denied nor confirmed it.

DR. YOUN: "This photo of Katherine could be mistaken for a possible breast augmentation due to the distinct space between her round breasts. But I believe she has young, firm breasts and wears a push-up bra. I'd say they're real."

▲ PAULA ABDUL

Many photos of 45-year-old Paula's cleavage show a bizarre chest indentation that could indicate misshapen implants. But her publicist Jeff Ballard quoted a famous "Seinfeld" episode when he told The ENQUIRER: "Paula's breasts are real – and they're spectacular!"

DR. YOUN: "Paula's breasts appear to have gotten bigger with time. If her weight has remained the same, that's unlikely to happen. But I can find no definite signs that her breasts have been enhanced, especially because they have the natural sag typical of women her age."

▶ CHRISTINA AGUILERA

Weighing barely more than 100 pounds, the sexy singer, 26, is a tiny woman with a big woman's vocal cords – and breast size. Yet she's repeatedly denied going under the knife. When asked, she's answered: "What boob job? This is not true."

DR. YOUN:

"The large size and roundness of Christina's breasts are a tip-off to likely implants. Most petite women are an A-cup, not a C-cup. The roundness of her breasts, especially the upper portion, is also a sign of probable implants."

▲ BEYONCÉ

Bootylicious Beyoncé boasts breasts that match her well-rounded behind – but her body parts haven't always been in sync. Early photos reveal the 25-year-old "Dreamgirls" star once had a noticeably smaller chest.

DR. YOUN:

"Given her curvy body type, her breasts appear natural. But they're very round – almost unnaturally so. Based on that, I would bet on her having had implants."